

Press information from: THE SAVINGS BANK

For immediate release 3-04-08

Student officers of the 1st Educational Savings Branch of The Savings Bank had an opportunity to learn more about consumer credit information from Kathleen Beaulieu, (seated) Senior Vice President – Senior Retail Loan Officer for The Savings Bank, as they prepare for the upcoming LifeSmarts Consumer Challenge, sponsored by the National Consumers League, at the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. During their recent meeting, the students learned about credit, credit scores and establishing and maintaining good credit. Taking part in the session with Senior Vice President Beaulieu are 1st Educational Savings Branch student officers (standing, left to right) Hannah Merullo, RJ Masse, Justin Kane, Jill Custodio, and Edélisse Nelson.

The student bankers recently qualified to compete against 25 other teams from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and have been preparing for the March 12th competition since September by taking online quizzes, attending informational seminars and studying printed materials on such topics as health, safety, environmental protection, car maintenance, technology, consumer credit and finance.
